
GMI Forum Rules

1 You are responsible for your own posts

You are always fully responsible for your post and information posted might cause action, and, if was incorrect, cause trouble. Prove your information shared or clarify that this is a warning for other members but not confirmed yet and the information has to be handled confidentially. Under no circumstances GMI-EU assumes any responsibility for the content shared on this forum.

2 Remain respectful of other members at all times

All posts should be professional and courteous. You have every right to disagree with your fellow community members and explain your perspective.

However, you are not free to attack, degrade, insult, or otherwise belittle them or the quality of this community. It does not matter what title or power you hold in these forums, and you are expected to comply with this rule.

3 Copyrights

Do not post copyright-infringing material. Providing or asking for information on how to obtain copyrighted materials illegally is not permitted.

4 Do not post offensive posts, links, or images

Any material which constitutes defamation, harassment, or abuse is strictly prohibited. Material that is sexually or otherwise obscene, racist, or otherwise discriminatory is not permitted on these forum, including user pictures. Use common sense while posting.

This is a web site for fraud-fighting professionals.

5 No Spam/ advertising/ self-promotion in the forums

These forums define spam as unsolicited advertisement for goods, services and/or other web sites, or posts with little, or completely unrelated content. Do not spam the forums with links to your site or product, or try to self-promote your website, business or forums etc.

Spamming also includes sending private messages to a large number of different users.

Do not ask for e-mail addresses or phone numbers.

6 Do not cross-post questions

Please refrain from posting the same question in several forums. There is usually one forum which is most suitable in which to post your question.

7 Do not send private messages to users asking for help

Do not send private messages to any users asking for help. If you need help, make a new thread in the appropriate forum. Then the whole community can help and benefit. If you need help from someone in particular contact the person via e-mail.

8 General Posting Guidelines

Here are some general guidelines.

8.1 Please use SEARCH first

There is a pretty good chance that unless you have some really odd or unique problem that it has been addressed on our forum before. Please use the forum's search feature first to see if there are already some useful threads on the subject. It is easy to search –click the “Search” button at the top right of the page.

8.2 Use DESCRIPTIVE topic names and subject lines

Please post a descriptive topic name.

Give a summary of your problem IN THE SUBJECT LINE. “Help me”, “Hello”, “Very urgent”, “I have a question” are not descriptive. Generally, ANYTHING similar to those is unacceptable. Just post your problem.

8.3 Remember, when people help you, they are doing you a favour

Be patient, help people out by posting good descriptions of what you need help with, and not snapping at people.

9 General Forum Questions

9.1 Am I allowed more than one account?

No. There is no reason why you should have more than one account at the GMI-EU forum. If you are banned from the forums, please do not create a new account. If you continue to create new accounts after you have been banned, your IP address will be blocked from the forums.

9.2 What happens if I break a rule?

If you break a rule, then you will either be warned or banned. A ban on your user account may either be temporary or permanent. The administrators and moderators also have the right to edit, delete, move or close any thread or post as they see necessary, without prior notice.

9.3 What happens if I see a thread/post which has broken a rule?

Please report the thread/post to the moderators or admin.

10 Becoming a moderator

All moderator applicants must be a member for at least 90 days (3 months) and have at least 100 posts.

You must be active in the individual forums you wish to moderate and regularly create and respond to threads in those forums.

You must also maintain a working knowledge of the subject matter.

Please be aware that applying to be a moderator does not guarantee acceptance and that moderators will only be appointed when needed.

Current moderators and administrators will review applications and decide if the applicant fits the desired post. Administrators have the final say, and we reserve the right to refuse applicants with or without cause.